Resources for Hazard Tree Removal, Firewood, and Reforestation

December 2023

Agencies are working together to provide help. Learn how you can receive assistance.

Hazardous Tree Removal

Hazardous tree removal services provided by agency partners include assessments by arborists, felling of hazard trees, and mulching or disposal of trees (varies by agency).

Through the Private Property Debris Removal Program, New Mexico Department of Transportation is removing hazardous trees. For information, call State Disaster Case Management at (505) 670-4662.

The Natural Resources Conservation Service is supporting hazard tree removal through the Emergency Watershed Protection program. For more information, call one of their sponsors at (505) 425-9088 or (575) 387-5057.

The U.S. Forest Service is conducting hazardous tree removal on federal lands. For more information, contact the Pecos Ranger Station at (505) 757-6121.

Firewood Distribution

To serve households who require firewood during the winter months, recovery partners are coordinating firewood processing and distribution to fire-affected residents.

Through a grant provided to Neighbors Helping Neighbors, the U.S. Forest Service is supporting firewood distribution to impacted residents. For more information, contact Janna Lopez at (505) 429-2062 or (505) 434-7283.

The New Mexico Department of Transportation is working with State Disaster Case Management Program to support firewood pickup and distribution to impacted residents. For more information, call (505) 670-4662.

The Claims Office may compensate you for the cost to purchase firewood if it was lost due to the fire or floods. For more information, call the Claims Office helpline at (505) 995-7133.

Reforestation

Reseeding, Conservation Restoration Plans, and additional resources to purchase seedlings and support restoration plans are available to support reforestation.

The Claims Office and the Natural Resources Conservation Service are working together to support Conservation Restoration Plans for impacted residents, which provide valuation and direct financial compensation to restore your property. For more information, call the Claims Office helpline at (505) 995-7133.

The U.S. Forest Service and New Mexico State Forestry are supporting multiple restoration efforts across the watershed, including the Hermit's Peak Watershed Alliance. To learn more about resources or to learn about what's happening in the watershed, contact Las Vegas District Office at (505) 425-7472.
